BRITISH HOLDING STRONG
AGAINST ATTACKS OF HUN
HOARDS—LINE IS MORE SECURE THAN EVER

GAIN ONLY ONE POINT

Advance Opposite The Hill Hinges—
Arrival of French Troops Heartens English—See Strategy in German Movement.

Ottawa, Ontario, April 19.—The British battle line is more secure than it has been for many days, justifying the belief the enemy may be held on their present position, says a Reuters dispatch received from London today. The change of front of German attacks to regions between Givenchy and east of Robecq found no weak spot in the British resistance. The dispatch says there was only one point in the new battle area where the enemy gained anything, this being opposite the hill Hinges, where he succeeded in bridging LaBasse canal, but the only Germans who crossed came as prisoners.

Situation Pleasing.
One of the foremost French generals who commanded the three French divisions in the heavy fighting previous to April 7, declared unreservedly to Reuters' correspondent with the French army, that there was nothing disquieting in the present battle situation, but "on the contrary we have every ground to be confident both in our own and in the British resistance." The correspondent's dispatch received by Reuters' agency quoted the French general as follows:

Other Battles.
"The course of this battle, like all others, was the same. Each side would continue to try blow and counter-blow, and the weight of numbers or superior skill to find the weak point in the enemy's armor and each endeavoring to retain sufficient reserves to turn the scale when the decisive moment was reached. After four years we are now only within sight of this decisive point. The Germans have still in France unused reserves and fresh divisions. The battle will proceed and the next step must be expected when the flood pouring in through Baillou up toward Hazebrouck is checked. The battle may continue a month or more, but the course will continue until the enemy's resources are exhausted and his numerical superiority worn down to the vanishing point. Then our work will be done with the help of American divisions."

To Protect Flank.
"This new German attack in the direction of Bethune is a change of front to protect his flank if he wishes to drive further northward. The enemy is trying to secure LaBasse canal with the object of forcing his troops around Baillou and simultaneously compelling the British in the French coal field near Bethune."

Seasoned French Arrive.
"The arrival of the French support is regarded as most important and they are described as splendidly seasoned men. The sight of the long line of men marching in the mud and rain, the British giving them a fresh sense of security, and the news of the French aggressive stroke south of Givenchy further heartened the British workers at home. The British withdrawal east of Ypres was due to the German advance from the south along the Lys valley threatening communication of the Ypres arm. Thus the distance this army would have to retreat if the enemy looked like breaking through the Castel Kemmel line has been reduced."

Drive Huns Back.
London, April 18.—The Germans were completely repulsed in the attack they launched yesterday around Givenchy on the southern side of the Lys battle front, the war office announced today. When the assault failed after heavy losses the enemy had only been able to secure a limited footing at one or two points of the more advanced British defenses. Six German divisions, it was determined, were engaged in the unsuccessful attack in the Givenchy sector."

Extra Report.
Enemy attacks on the British line in the northern part of the Lys battle area south of Kemmel were successfully repulsed, the war office announced. There was no change in the situation along the entire British front last night, which was passed in comparative quiet with the exception of activity by the artillery on both sides.

The attack against the line in the Kemmel sector, the repulse of which was reported today, took place yesterday morning. In minor enterprises the British captured a few prisoners and some machine guns.

The enemy launched further attacks last evening south of Kemmel. These were broken up by the British artillery and machine gun fire.

With the British Army in France, April 19.—Exhausted by failure of yesterday's heavy attack on Givenchy in the Hainaut front, the Germans made no further move during the night and the greater part of the "Plander" battle front quiet prevailed. This morning the British established their line west of Robecq on the southern side of the Lys valley, recapturing ground at Riex du Village farm yesterday afternoon. Kemmel hill on the northern side of the battle front is still being heavily bombarded. This

Irish Nationalists Vote To Resist The Draft Law

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
London, April 19.—The conference of Irish nationalists held in Dublin yesterday unanimously passed a resolution declaring their determination to resist conscription. The resolution was similar to the one adopted by the Irish Bishop at Maynooth earlier in the day. The conference then adjourned until Friday.

The Bishop's declaration of conscription was being forced on Ireland and that it was an oppressive and inhuman law which the Irish people have the right to resist "by all means consistent with the law of God."

AMIENS, STILL BEYOND HUN GRASP.

IMPORTANT TO ALLIES' SUPPLIES.

View of Amiens, its famous cathedral in the background.

Though General Foch has said the capture of Amiens would not mean a decisive victory for the foe, the town is of great importance to the allies for its railroad connections and as a means of bringing forward supplies. There is every confidence that allied arms will fall all of the foe's desperate effort to seize the city. The beautiful and ancient Amiens cathedral would tempt the Hun to his greatest depredations.

morning in preparation for fresh assaults by the Germans.

Repulse Attacks.
The hostile attack reported to begin progress yesterday morning south of Kemmel was successfully repulsed and other attacks launched by the enemy in this locality during the evening were brought up by our artillery and machine gun fire.

With the exception of artillery activity on both sides in the battle sector, the night passed comparatively quiet on the whole British front. We captured some prisoners and machine guns as a result of minor enterprises at Givenchy.

The fighting from six German divisions are now known to have been engaged in the successful attack delivered by the enemy in the Givenchy-St. Venant sector. The fighting at Givenchy as on other parts of the front ended in the complete repulse of the enemy, who at the end of a most determined and costly assault was only able to secure limited footing in one or two points in our most advanced defense. The enemy is known to have suffered heavy casualties from our artillery prior to the opening of his attack and the course of the days fighting were equally severe."

In French Line.
Paris, April 19.—The French last night reduced German machine gun attack south east of Amiens, the war office announced. There was heavy fighting in this region.

The statement follows: "There was rather a violent bombardment by both opposing artillery along the front from Castel to Mully Rainval. During the night the French reduced German machine gun nests in front of the attack yesterday. The number of prisoners taken has reached 650, of whom 20 are officers."

War Summary.
British troops are standing before strong German machine gun positions north of Arras while southwest of Amiens the French have driven the Germans back in the region of Castel. The heaviest fighting in the northern front is on the southern side of the salient from St. Venant west of Merville to Givenchy. On this eleven mile front the Germans are using ten divisions, amounting 137,000 men.

Capture of Most of the Messines-Wytschaete ridge by the Germans did not seriously weaken the British position, as Field Marshal Haig ordered the enemy by withdrawing his line northeast of Ypres. In this region the Germans are floundering in mud and efforts to turn the British line south of Ypres by taking Kemmel hill have failed with severe losses. Twice Thursday the Germans threw large forces against this hill but each time were thrown back in sharp repulse. The fighting and artillery duels continue here and westward toward Materin.

Small Successes.
In switching their strong effort from the north to the south the Germans have not gained success. Their evident desire on the front northwest of Givenchy is to cross the LaBasse canal and outflank Bethune and with its late capture the British have no advance being checked everywhere with large casualties. Givenchy is again the center of fierce struggle as it was ten days ago, but the British are in a more important position in its bearing to the defenses of Bethune and Lens.

Berlin, for the first time since the northern operations began, announced in its late communication "that the situation is unchanged."

Bombs Intended For District Attorney Found To Be Deadly

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Milwaukee, April 19.—The two bombs which were placed at the home of district attorney Zabel were opened this forenoon and found to contain deadly and powerful explosives. The inside of both bombs were practically the same. Immediately below the top cover was a number of fuses of the same length. Below this the detonators found a row of 32 cartridges arranged so the noses pointed outward, below this was a quantity of dynamite. The device was similar to the one which Captain Sullivan snatched one vial of acid and another bottle of the same explosive acid.

Paris, April 19.—Rheims, which has been on fire for a week, is now nothing but a great pile of smoking ruins. During the past week the Germans have fired more than 100,000 shells into the heart of the city, according to the correspondent of the Reuters. The destruction of the city is a masterpiece of the German aviators. Streets and thoroughfares have disappeared from the view and the ruins are reduced to a mass of rubble. The vaulting of the famous Rheims cathedral is falling stone by stone, and soon there will be nothing left of the edifice but the walls and the roof. The shells are still bursting all around the building. Notwithstanding the terrible bombardment forty Paris firemen are still in the city working to save the ruins and to prevent the effects of the inhabitants. Some have lost their lives. With the Paris firemen are some local firemen, one of whom, Sergeant Ray, has been severely injured. He was wounded 14 times.

OFFENDER RELEASED BY JUDGE AS REWARD FOR SERVICE IN WAR

Madison Man, Who Has Seen Eighteen Months of Service in France, Given Freedom by Judge Maxwell.

Faithful service for his country on the war-torn fields of France won J. A. Minor, of Madison, his freedom in the municipal court this morning. Judge Maxwell, presiding, granted the man a full discharge on the charge of driving an automobile while in an intoxicated condition, but when arraigned this morning his sentence was suspended pending his future actions.

The arrest was made on the complaint of his mother, who said he took the car from Madison at two o'clock yesterday morning and came to Janesville without her consent. He freely admitted his guilt but because of his service in the army Judge Maxwell released him after he had taken the pledge to abstain from intoxicating liquors.

Minor has been over the top on several occasions and was gassed in one attack and rendered unconscious in another. The judge called him into his office for a talk with him and before he had gotten through with his narrative the judge was firmly convinced that the man was a good fellow and had done his share to put an end to the conflict which is taking the lives of the young men of the country.

He told of the many attacks which he had been through on his trips across "No Man's Land" to the enemy trenches. Minor has seen fourteen months of active service on the front lines and to prove his story he showed a number of wounds due to pieces of shrapnel. One of his legs is badly splintered white on his head and face he carries marks of other shrapnel wounds.

Minor, with the Canadian forces in February of 1916 and went immediately to England and from there to France. The forces were sent to the front lines and he was in the front line in many of the big conflicts. Of principal note, he said, was the great engagement of Ypres in which he went over the top.

After his first engagements he returned to the front lines after two months in a hospital in England. He got back at the Hun line in February after he had been granted a discharge due to his physical condition. His lungs and heart have been affected by the gas taken into his system during the fighting and in spite of it he is bound to return to the army, and says he will enlist as soon as the doctors give him permission.

Throughout his talk with the judge he was bitter to the greatest extent against the Huns. Their inhuman methods of killing, the atrocities committed on the women of France taken in the capture of towns, and their treatment of wounded enemies were clearly told and as he related them he rose from his chair and denounced them with unprintable words.

When asked if he had ever used his bayonet to kill any men he replied, "No, I have never used it on any men, but I have killed some Huns. They are not even human. They are worse than the Indians of old, who delighted in taking the scalps from their victims. When one sees his comrades lying helplessly on the battlefield, wounded, and he cannot help but be willing to do anything in his power to kill such people," he said. "I have seen them commit deeds on the battlefield which are unbelievable of human beings."

His very vivid description of his first trip over the top was of such a nature that one could imagine him self standing on his knees every step. "I was standing on the knees when I first started, but after I got into the fray I forgot all about the danger of the situation and did all in my power to throw them back, push them back, anything to beat them."

In conclusion he told the judge that he believed the situation was the highest, not and all the aid which the United States could give at this time was absolutely necessary. "If we do not do our share we will be fighting them on our own soil in a short time," he said. "It is no dream. It is the truth. They are steadily pushing ahead, and the allies must halt them."

Since returning to the United States Minor has been working as a conductor on the Madison street railway system. Although a machinist by trade he is at present unable to do the work due to his physical condition. He left for Madison this morning with a firm resolve to mend his ways and to serve his country as a citizen as he served it as a soldier in war.

She wishes to bring to her allies tangible proof of solidarity and very soon the colors of Italian regiments will fly over the field of Picardy beside those of French, British, American, Belgian and Portuguese, thus sealing the union which exists between the allied people and governments."

Japs Not Worried Over Landing Men On Russ Territory

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Tokio, April 19.—The Japanese press and public are not greatly concerned over the situation which has been brought about by the landing of Japanese and British forces at Vladivostok. The jingo element's efforts have fallen flat and anti-government newspapers have been unable to make headway. Some efforts have been made to create distrust of American motives. The great officials being interviewed say there is no basis for such feeling and the United States representations to Russia regarding the situation at Vladivostok and would herself have landed troops in similar circumstances. The United States, they said, is merely observing the principle of non-interference unless absolute necessity arises.

John is searching the lake for the other two bodies.

A Loan For Liberty

AND

For Liberty Alone!

Have You Bought a

LIBERTY BOND?

Can You Look a Soldier or Sailor Squarely in the Face?

What right have you, and you, and you to expect the protection of the Stars and Stripes when YOU haven't made the first effort to protect yourself? What have you done to back up the loyalty and bravery of those boys of grit and true American patriotism who have shouldered arms to protect you, your wife, your baby and your home?

Be fair to the flag.

Ask yourself these questions, then step forward from the backward ranks of the slacker and prove yourself worthy of a place among loyal Americans.

Do Your "Bit" Tomorrow--Buy a Liberty Bond

War cannot be waged successfully by our army and navy alone—back of them must be a nation united in thought, purpose and action. IT TAKES MONEY TO WIN and lots of it—money and patriotism. Talk patriotism—preach it in your factories—in your stores—in your offices and in your home. Get back the spirit of '76—it will do more than make up for the loss of man power caused by those called to the colors. In addition to keeping business moving it will present a solid front fighting in the glorious cause—FREEDOM!

Encourage the men and women you meet every day—every hour—to buy one or more Liberty Bonds—small savings encourage thrift—and a thrifty nation is always prosperous.

Your Government Stands Behind the Liberty Bond Issue

You know that the unbroken faith of this Government and the vast resources of the richest country on earth are behind each Liberty Bond Issue. You know that your country is not asking you to GIVE it any money, but to make an investment that will yield you a good return financially and award you a measure of honor and self-respect that all the money in the world can not buy. You know that the Government offers you these bonds on the most liberal terms. You know, too, that many banks, corporations, companies and individuals have worked out for their customers or employes EASY PAYMENT PLANS which place these bonds within the reach of any human being who is able to do a day's work. You know that there is no valid excuse either to conscience or to country why you should not buy at least one of these bonds.

The Success of the Loan Is Dependent Upon Your Subscription

It is not the amount that you take that will count—that may be little or large, in accordance with your ability—the indispensable thing is the subscription itself—YOUR subscription, which says, "COUNT ME." The lurking, insidious danger to the issue is indifference, born of thoughtless over-confidence, or prompted by the selfishness which tries to rule us all.

If everybody felt sure the loan would be subscribed without his or her help what would happen? Why, the issue would fall flat, and the kaiser would score a bigger victory than if he had sunk our fleet at sea.

Are you willing to hear the arch enemy of Liberty say, "Ah, those apathetic Americans—they are indeed our best friends!" Certainly not, and we do not blame you for resenting the question. But the only way you can feel sure that this disgrace will not happen is to take no chances on its happening. If you subscribe to the loan, there will be ONE CHANCE LESS; if you fail to do so there will be ONE MORE.

So, it is up to you, whether you work with your hands or your head, to BUY A LIBERTY BOND. Wake up! And say to yourself, your city, your state and a waiting world, "I AM AN AMERICAN—a true lover of Liberty."

OVER THE TOP.

While our boys are going over the top somewhere over there, we are going over the top somewhere right here at home. Never has Janesville or Rock county been as a unit in patriotism as at present. Just one experience of a committee of ladies is enough to demonstrate that this war is "our war," that "our boys" and "our government" are being backed to the hilt. These ladies visited a home where they had been led to hope for one or two bonds. The wife was at home and she frankly stated: "Yes, we expected you, and I will buy a bond for what money we have to spare." A sack was produced and inside the sack was a Liberty bond when the sum of $5.00 was counted out. Some of it in checks dated 1909 and not yet cashed. Figure it out, one "machine gun" badge at $5.00, this one family means nearly twelve machine guns. The money they had to spare. Can you imagine if this was true in one house what it was in others. Do you wonder we are going over the top and doing big? Do you wonder that Wisconsin is going to tell the rest of these states that we are loyal and loyal through and through, and there is no mistake about it? There has never been any question about Rock county and its loyalty. Of course there have been isolated spots that have been wanted for in fiction, but they are being closely guarded and the first sign means—well, more than buying Liberty bonds that pay the investor a good rate of interest and so our good name is kept up. Rock county is going over the top and it is now up to the rural districts to keep up the ratio set by the cities and do their share. It is a vital interest to every resident to back up the government and this county will not be found wanting. Watch the total grow.

DON'T LOSE HEART.

Do not lose heart because the English line has been driven back and the German advance has been so far as it is still back for the help in the front and be an optimist. Our Rock county boys are not to be heard from and they are over there "somewhere in France" ready and willing to take into this war with just the spirit that started them forth last August.

Historians tell us that England always loses all the battles but the last course of the American, Canadian, Yorktown and New Orleans, and know it is false. But still, British "bulldog" determination has caused the cross of St. George to be honor and respect the world over. When you give them the aid of British of France and the stars and stripes of America, do you think that the forces of the "British of America" is going to conquer? As one speaker at the meeting at the Myers theatre Sunday night said: "If we worship the same God as does William of Orange, and he answers William's prayers and not ours, I would not be surprised if that God were." We know we do not, but time will be needed to help the German people they are wounding a false God.

Do not lose heart because of the discrediting news reports. It is always darkest before the dawn, and when that glorious news comes trickling across the thousands of miles that separate us from Europe that the victory has been begun, do as they have done in England for two years past.

Push your troubles in the old kit box and—

WHAT WILL WIN?

Speaking of the war, General Denims of the Canadian army recently told his auditors that "men will win the war." Mr. Hoover has told us that food will win the war, and we have equally positive assurance that ships will win the war. Many military critics have expressed the opinion that artillery will win the war.

None of these things will win the war in itself; and it is at least possible that all of them together, without something more to give them co-ordination and cohesion, might fail. If men will win the war, Russia had all the men that could be desired, and so far as the allies are concerned, has done as much as any single influence to lead the war. If food will win the war, Germany has been and is worse off now than the allies. Yet she holds the offensive on all fronts, and after four long months, is still fighting in the enemy's country.

It is certain at least that the war cannot be won without ships; and artillery, the heaviest kind and in the largest quantity, is necessary, although it did not check the advance of waves of German troops on the western front, where the commanders were willing to see their beleaguered troops. Furthermore such monstrous losses as the seventy-fourth reg. of the most doubtful military value, the allies are as well off for artillery as the Germans are better, and could even afford to regard the loss of hundreds of guns with calmness in view of what they cost the Germans.

Patience work, combined with these and other necessities, can win the war, and the war cannot be won without it. But the men in our shipyards, many of whom are making ninety dollars a week or more, are under the spell of the labor leaders, and we see the humiliating spectacle of sporadic strikes for still higher pay. The problem is up to everybody, for it is everybody putting together, not doing his grudging "bit," but "doing his damndest," the war can be won.

STARTING RIGHT.

Mayor Charles Valentine has started right—no one who knew him expected him to do otherwise—but his selection of his council committee shows foresight and attention to details as to the individual fitness of the members for the particular work the council members are to be assigned to. In days gone by the mayor has been the mere figurehead of the council, but Mayor Valentine evidently means to be more and sustain the dignity of the office and be a veritable mayor and not merely a presiding officer of the council. Janesville citizens shall look to the mayor for their inspiration, and that he is to be backed by the council goes without saying.

The haste with which the pro-German politicians are crawling into the Liberty ark hasn't been seen since the days of old Noah.

It is astonishing how easy it is to get up at 5:30 a. m. and enjoy the beautiful morning—when the clock says 6:30.

Some of the people who whizzed around corners in their automobiles last year in order to save a few seconds of time, are paying for it this year in higher liability insurance rates.

It is denied that the German government does not value the common people, as their dead bodies are mightily convenient to use to cross rivers or.

The man who won't take a Liberty bond to provide supplies to the men that defend him, deserves to be put in "No Man's Land" without any weapons in defend himself with.

The people who are trying to conserve wasted resources should think up some means of getting the congressional oratory applied to the sale of Liberty bonds.

If the pro-Germans are to be made to kiss the flag, their flag should be carefully cleaned with soap and water first.

Also it is not practical to hang 'em to the lamp-posts as many people urge, as it would contaminate the air in our centers of population.

Killing all those people at church in Paris was the Hun way of reminding folks that they would better kneel to the Kaiser instead of to God.

The airplane manufacturers are respectfully reminded that the planes are wanted in this war—not in the next.

The interned Germans should be liberally fed—on the ground glass bread their spies have been turning out.

Plant Mentioned in Bible.

The common garden plant called coriander is found in Egypt, Persia and India. It has globular, grayish seedpods and is mentioned twice in the Bible, in Exodus 16:31, and in Numbers 11:5.

The Child Critics.

Parents are living daily before the most critical audience in the world—their child. The small deceit, the loss of temper—all such things are seen by the small critic, and they all color, in later years, his feeling for his parents.—From the Delineator.

Would Give Money for It.

A man took his wife to a doctor, who put a thermometer into her mouth and told her to keep her mouth shut for two or three minutes. When departing the man tapped the doctor on the shoulder and said: "Doctor, what will you take for that thing? I never saw my wife keep her mouth shut so long before."

At the Modern Opera.

Patience—"You say you heard Mme. Highsee in vaudeville today?" Patrice—"Yes; first time she's been heard in this country." Patience—"Nonsense! She sang in this country in opera for two years." Patrice—"Yes, she was in opera, but everybody talks at the opera, and nobody heard her."

Good in Various Vegetables.

Potatoes are said to improve the hair, which may account for the wonderful heads of hair in Ireland. Celery and lettuce are aids for the nerves, and cucumbers and carrots affect the complexion beneficially.

Uncle Eben.

"Some people," said Uncle Eben, "regards givin' good advice as a form of amusement, same as tellin' funny stories."

GARIBALDI MEETS YANKS IN ITALY

General Garibaldi chatting with American soldier-bandsmen in Italy.

Members of the American military band that went with other allied army bands to Italy and took part in a recent Red Cross concert there were honored by a friendly chat with General Garibaldi, son of Giuseppe Garibaldi, the famous Italian patriot. Six sons of the Garibaldi family are now in the service.

Carolyn Wells, the writer of some of America's best verse and humor, recently became the bride of Hadwin Houghton, son of the senior member of Houghton, Mifflin & Co., Miss Wells' publishers. The couple have been lifelong friends.

FEAR FORMER LOCAL BOY IS ON MISSING COLLIER "CYCLOPS"

Clayton Goodman Listed as One of the Crew on Board Ship Which Has Been Overdue at Port Since March 13.

It is feared by many people that Clayton Goodman, 29 years of age and a former local boy, is on the U. S. collier "Cyclops" which is missing and which it is thought has met disaster on the Atlantic. Young Goodman lived on Glen street, Janesville, for many years and attended the public schools here. Three years ago, with his mother, he moved to Rockford. He enlisted in the navy several months ago and was given his training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

His name is announced on the list of the passengers and crew aboard the big naval collier which has been overdue at an Atlantic port since March 13th. The vessel is loaded with a cargo of manganese and with a personnel on board of fifteen officers and 221 men of the crew and fifty-seven passengers. It was last reported at one of the West Indian islands and since its departure from that port no trace of it nor any information concerning it has been obtained.

Horse's Musical Sense.

The musical acuteness of horses is shown by the rapidity with which cavalry horses learn the significance of trumpet calls.

TRUCK LOADS MUST NOT EXCEED 3 TONS

ORDINANCE ENACTED BY COUNTY BOARD REGULATING SIZE OF TIRES AND LOADS FOR MOTOR TRUCKS AND OTHER VEHICLES

HIGHWAYS ARE RUINED

Heavy Trucks Pound Life out of County Roads—Penalty Provided for Violation and Ordinance Will be Enforced.

So much damage has been caused to the highways of Rock county by heavy motor trucks carrying loads weighing several tons that the county board of supervisors before adjourning yesterday afternoon enacted an ordinance regulating the size of loads carried on vehicles traveling roads maintained either by the county or the state or both. The ordinance was ordered published in the Daily Gazette and in the Beloit paper and will take effect immediately upon publication. One hundred pamphlets of the ordinance will be printed and distributed to people who are known to be hauling excessive loads and to the several corners of justice in the county.

The ordinance as passed provides that no motor or horse drawn vehicle shall carry a load in excess of 1,500 pounds per inch width of tire, no load to exceed 3,000 pounds. This penalty provided for a violation of this ordinance will be a fine of not less than $1 nor more than $200, all money obtained in this way to be turned into the county highway fund.

The ordinance directed that those owners of big motor trucks who, with loads of four or five tons of milk, make daily trips on the county highways and at the same time cause considerable damage to the roads in some cases practically ruining them. Highway Commissioner C. E. Moore recommended the enactment of this ordinance as it is something which will save the county hundreds of dollars in repair work. It will be enforced the same as any other ordinance and complaints of violations should be made in the regular way.

Mr. Moore was asked to give a brief resume of the work on the highways which will be done this year. Only necessary work is to be done this year as the county is limited to what the state wants built. "We have already let," he said, "four or five contracts and I am sure that there will be enough work on the roads this summer to utilize all available labor. Labor and supplies, however, are high and it is going to cost us more this year than we have ever paid before. We must maintain our county trunk line system, because the state has so ordered us I hope to hear no complaints that we are working on that system when another road should be built, because it is absolutely out of our control."

An appropriation of money sufficient to pay the county's share of the construction of several bridges in the various townships was voted, and the county clerk instructed to draw the order to pay the different amounts. An appropriation of $500 was made to the building committee for deficits and incidental expenses. The sum of $100 was voted to be given to Chairman George W. Hull for signing county orders. Committee No. 10 submitted its report and Supervisor Tuller introduced a resolution authorizing the payment of the various supervisors for their committee work and expenses. Supervisor Benson made the report of Committee No. 9 on the cost of examinations of insane, feeble-minded and tubercular people, and a sum of money was appropriated sufficient to pay the bills. A number of claims were disallowed by the committee for the reason that the examining physicians failed to file a report of their work. Upon the adjournment of the board the per diem of Supervisor Dutton for the three day session was allowed and the county treasurer ordered to make payments. The meeting adjourned at three-thirty, closing the April session. The next regular session of the board will not be held until November.

JANESVILLE SOLDIER WRITES FROM FRANCE

John Thiele, Mechanic with Company M, 128th U. S. Infantry, Writes Interesting Letter from "Over There."

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Thiele, 1429 Fourth avenue, have received a letter from their son John, who is a member of Co. M, 128th U. S. Infantry. In his letter Mechanic Thiele tells of the treatment they are receiving at the hands of the French people. He also relates the experiences they had in riding on the French railroads. His letter follows:

Somewhere in France, March 18th, 1918.

Dear Mother:

I received father's letter of Feb. 17th last Saturday and was glad to hear from Janesville. We don't write very often over here and a letter from home is certainly a treat. We are all O. K. and everything is fine.

The weather over here is just like spring. The nights are a little cool though. The grass is green and the trees are all in bud. To look at the peaceful country side one would never realize that this country was at war.

We spent our first night in an historic old fort. We had a journey on one of the French dyers, one of their freight cars would just about fill up our quarter of a box car over there. We are billeted in a little French village. There is a church here over 200 years old. There is no such thing over here as a wooden building—all of the buildings are made out of stone. The billet I am in has a fire place and a nice room with a stove in it. It is an old French homestead. The supply sergeant and the cooks sleep in the same house with me.

The French people are very accommodating. They wear wooden shoes and old fashioned clothes. The lady in the house next door to us give us wood for our fire and we are learning to speak French from a couple of children. I will close for this time and will write again soon.

JOHN.

CAMP CUSTER PREPARES FOR COMING OF SELECTS

Camp Custer, April 19.—Camp Custer is now busy preparing to receive the members of the first quota of the second draft who will begin to arrive April 24th according to an announcement made officially at the division headquarters recently. Soldiers on fatigue duty are now being employed cleaning up barracks and filling straw ticks and doing other work to receive the new selects.

According to present figures between twelve and fifteen thousand drafted men will come to camp during the five days following April 24th. This number will not include 2,000 negroes who will be sent here for training from Alabama. This is regarded as the first move toward sending thousands of southern men to northern camps for training.

WOULD HAVE MEANT MUCH

England Offered to Trade Gibraltar for Florida, but the Deal Was Not Made.

You know that for everlasting stability and stubborn resistance there is nothing in the world like Gibraltar. Did you ever hear of a curious little bargain, which was never consummated, but in which that great rock at the mouth of the Mediterranean figured as part of the price? It had to do with an important part of our country, and yet it is seldom mentioned in any of our histories, says a writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. The impregnable fortress was fought over by the Spaniards and the Moors for two centuries, and it came in for the keen interest of Oliver Cromwell, who thundered at the British the fact that if they ever hoped to become the dominating sea power of the world they must control the Mediterranean from Gibraltar. This great necessity was never lost sight of, but a suitable pretext did not arise until the war of the Spanish succession, when England and France were at each others' throats for the mastery of Europe.

Under Admiral Sir George Brooks the British fleet made an unexpected attack on the Spanish defenses and captured Gibraltar in 1704. Presently the English sickened of their bargain. That was long before the digging of the Suez canal by the French and the Egyptians, and the cost of maintaining the rocky fortress appeared to be out of all proportion to its worth. When Spain was approached by Napoleon for the purchase of Florida, as a blow at England from the western theater of the Anglo-French war, England offered to trade Gibraltar for Florida. Had the trade taken place, England would not have become the mistress of the sea.

EGYPTIANS FOND OF CATS

Animal Was Not Only a Domestic Pet, but Was Honored When It Died.

The Egyptians are the first people among whom we find notices of the cat. It figures largely upon the monuments as a domestic pet, and was honored when dead. Comical stories are told by Herodotus of the anxiety to save the cats when a house caught fire, and the grief when one died. The cat seems to have served as a retriever in fowling expeditions, and even in fishing. It seems strange that no mention of the cat occurs in the Bible or in any Assyrian record. Even in India it was not recently known as a domestic animal. Its Sanscrit name is marjara, from a root meaning to clean. From the creature's habit of licking herself at her toilet. Her mousing habits were well known to the Romans, and even to the Etruscans, as shown by antique gems and even wall paintings. The mouse killer domesticated among the Greeks, called gale, described by Aristotle and humorously referred to by Aristophanes in "Peace," has been shown by Professor Rolleston to have been our white-breasted marten. Besides the cat, the Egyptians domesticated the ichneumon, popularly known as Tharaos's rat, which is still to be seen in the houses at Cairo.

Not as It Sounded.

Dr. F. Osmond Carr has told a story of how, seeing one of his own operas advertised for performance at Harrogate while he was on a visit to that resort, he went in to see the performance. Before the curtain rose an aged invalid was carried into the front row of the stalls by stalwart attendants, and left there. The composer was gratified to see how the invalid led the applause after every number, thumping vigorously with the stick with which he had been provided.

During the first intermission, however, the thumping was continued, and then the secret was out. The aged playgoer had expected to see a drama, was disgusted to find that the piece was a comic opera and had been knocking to signal his attendants to come and take him out—London Globe.

Ancient Herb Gardens.

The herb garden is no new thing, and in the centuries gone the herbalists were regarded as men of considerable distinction, and were in numerous instances men of considerable learning, as knowledge of the sciences was measured in those remote times. The herbalist was botanist, pharmacist and physician, raising his own herbs, making from them his own medicines and administering them to his own patients. A number of the gardens of these old herbalists are historic, a few of them have been preserved in Europe, and in more than one instance a great botanical garden has been developed out of what was once a herbalist's garden.

To the Horseman.

Remember that a horse is only flesh and blood and not sheetiron. He gets tired, hungry and thirsty, and for goodness sake treat him accordingly. Because he is a lively horse and you are paying his hire, treat him white just the same.

Remember that someone else rode him yesterday and another will probably do so tomorrow.

Give your horse the same kind of a deal you yourself would demand if you were in his place. Even a bronco has "feelings" and will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: About a year ago I made the acquaintance of a young man of whom I thought a great deal. We were together constantly for about five months, and during that time had some very jolly times. He is at one of the camps now and I heard from him regularly until about three months ago and I don't know why I do not hear from him any more. I have written to him numerous times, but I never receive an answer to my letters nor are they returned. I know he thought a great deal of me for I would receive a letter from him every week and even send me gifts several times. What would you advise me to do in the way of finding out where he is or what has become of him. I am sure he is still alive. Write to his local board for information. They can tell you where he is stationed. Probably the boy is very busy and after being away from you so long has lost interest in a correspondence.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I used to be with a young man who is married now. I know his wife very well and like her. This boy and his wife love each other in the queerest way. They don't seem to be jealous of each other. She left town for a few weeks before she told her husband she was going to see his old girl who was away. He phoned me and told me about it and asked me to come over. I made an excuse so that he wouldn't. I liked the man and would have enjoyed seeing him again. Did he do the right thing in not letting me come?

You did the wise thing in not letting him come. The wife may be more jealous than she pretends to be. This way you did not run the risk of losing her friendship.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My boy friend is at camp and I want to send him a birthday present. I have just had my picture taken in small size. He has asked me to give him a picture of myself and have always refused. I would like to send him one in a flat leather frame. Do you think it would be all right? We have been friends for over a year.

I am very lenient in some of my rules of conduct when soldiers are concerned. Since this young man has asked for your picture, I think it would be all right to send him the gift you suggest.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a widow with two little children and I am having a very hard time to earn enough money to take care of them. My mother is old and the care of the children is hard on her.

There is a man ten years older than I am. I am asked to marry him. He loves me more than I love him. I am sure that if I did marry him he would always be true and good to me. Would you advise me to marry him?

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a working girl and I have just worked in this position for a year. Last week I had a birthday and one of the men in the office who is married brought me a box of candy. I accepted it, but I wondered at the time if I did the right thing. My mother was angry about it. This man is much older than I am and only seems to like me in a nice friendly way. Did I do wrong in accepting the candy?

It is usually not a good thing to accept candy from men at work. Since it was your birthday and the man likes you only in a friendly way, I think it was all right in your case.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO DR. BRADY, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

PETTOR ORIS
"What," pleads a despondent office man, "is it that makes a man's breath so strong enough to carry across a hall and through two oak doors? There is a person in our establishment with a breath that nothing under the sun would stop. I verily believe it."

It is most likely fetor oris. It is a terrible disease—for its victims. Fetor oris is attributed by the mere laity to a bad stomach, which is about the farthest of all causes. About the only stomach trouble that is marked by a foul breath is dilated stomach, the result of some obstruction. Torpid liver, constiveness are rarely, if ever, concerned.

Dry nasal "catarrh"—atrophic rhinitis or ozene is a common cause of a fetid breath. Cases of sinusitis, particularly ethmoiditis, are accompanied with a bad breath and fortunately or unfortunately according to who has it, the subject of the disease himself, retained matter in the crypts or "sinuses" of the tonsils is a frequent cause of fetor oris.

Furunculosis is a famous cause of a foul breath. A great many perfectly upright citizens carry about with them such a breath, and wonder why their friends are always in a hurry to catch a train.

Decayed teeth and unhygienic or cheap dentures in the mouth are likely to cause an evil odor. After all, these dentures are a luxury, not a necessity, and can be removed. A young woman—taking her from a safe distance—recently had her heart broken by an ardent young man who, "suffering" from "fetor oris," had taken her out and wouldn't consider wearing a "gas mask." The girl had made the mistake of looking upon a profession of dentistry as a business with no other side.

A tonsil in young adults may produce an unpleasant odor in the breath. Lung tuberculosis sometimes causes a bad breath. In persons with chronic bronchitis complicated with dilated bronchia tubes (bronchiectasis) an exceedingly foul odor may arise from the retention of matter in the cavities.

Calumet, when taken frequently, as in the official compound enthalpic pill, is likely to produce an evil breath.

On the whole, fetor oris is rather a good thing. It tends to call attention to the need of hygiene or looking after the individual's health. QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Some time ago I read a statement by one of your correspondents to the effect that he had some aches each night and morning (or if I recollect she turned twelve) had cured her of headaches. It seemed silly at first, but I tried it, and after several painful false starts I caught the knack of it and sure enough I have had only two very slight headaches in two months, whereas I formerly had a severe one, regular, six or seven times a week. I am sure I am glad I met Dr. Brady only in print. (Mrs. J. C. G.)
I am a young man who is going to be up and about and care for himself might be able to turn six corners each night and morning without any severe injury after a little practice. It often brings on dizziness, nausea, fainting, and sometimes even fainting, but by persevering these drawbacks are overcome, and in the long run the health is improved. I have heard of temporary upsets only go to show how badly your circulation and assimilation have just a little bit. ## SIDE TALKS

—BY— RUTH CAMERON

Why Is It Hard?
Sometimes I marvel at myself. Last fall I met a very nice young man. And the nicest thing, in all his niceness, was the way he spoke about his mother.

She wasn't an ordinary mother, he said. She was a very remarkable lady. She Even Understood Baseball.

She understood. She was a comedian as well as a mother. When he had been at the things he was doing.

ing. She really liked and understood a baseball game. And now that he had gone to work, she liked to hear all about that. And he liked to go places with her. Why, he'd rather take her to the theater than my girl he knew. And she was a dandy looker, too. He wanted me to see her.

Well, this winter I did see her. She was visiting in my home town at the same time I was.

We talked about her son and I told her what a very nice young man he was.

And yet I had looked forward to telling her.

But—and here lies the explanation of my opening sentence—I couldn't seem to get myself to tell her what I had promised myself I certainly would tell her. I've never said what I had indeed looked forward to telling her—namely, how splendidly her son spoke of her.

I can't tell you what on earth with-held me.

"I'll tell her tomorrow," I promised myself. And then her visit was unexpectedly shortened and she went away without my telling her.

What is this queer awkwardness, this unparaphrased constraint that makes us shrink from saying words of open and serious praise to a person's face?

Our Racial Undemonstrativeness. I have told a dozen people how much that son thinks of his mother. Why should I have found it awkward to tell her?

I think it is part of our queer Anglo-Saxon reserve, our racial undemonstrativeness.

There are some of us, of course, who have that quick social instinct that says the gracious thing as naturally as one draws breath.

But I think they are the exception, not the rule.

I have made a resolution that I will never let myself miss such a chance again.

I wonder if I shall keep it.

MISS PRUE IMPROVES.
"I'll be late for the office," said Brownie, "but oh, Claire, I've got to know what he says. I'll go out in the kitchen and give you a chance to read it. I'll be back in a minute. You've got to put me out of my agony." And June Browning ramped out.

For the longest time not a sound came from the room where Claire was. Brownie began to think she had fainted. Softly she opened the door and peeped in. Claire sat on the couch where she had dropped her eyes staring out the window. Reaves' letter open on her lap.

"Claire," Jane spoke gently, but Claire jumped up one who is going to be up and about and care for himself might be able to turn six corners each night and morning without any severe injury after a little practice. TEXAS WOMEN TO VOTE AT COMING PRIMARIES

Austin, Tex., April 19.—What the women will do is the question that is perplexing Texas politicians. The answer will be given July 27. The recent special session of the legislature passed a bill giving Texas women the right to vote in primaries and nominating conventions. This act will become a law June 26 and the women will then need only to register to be eligible to vote in the primaries July 27. The law requires them to register fifteen days before the primaries.

After 1918 the women must pay the poll tax—$1.75—in addition to registering, before they can vote. On account of the poll tax some content that the total vote cast this year by the women will be heavier than in coming years.

Data is not available to show just how many women are of voting age. However, since the male voting strength of the state is 816,000 it is believed that of the women equals this amount and possibly exceeds it. Based on that assumption, politicians express belief that the women will poll from 400,000 to 600,000 votes in the July primaries.

In estimating the female vote, however, it is pointed out that the average Texas election calls out only about 60 per cent of the potential male vote. Many express belief that the women will not cast more votes than the men.

Women's clubs over the state already have begun an active campaign to educate the women in the art of making their ballots properly and are urging them to turn out in full force and vote. The fact that many women in the rural districts must

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified coconut oil, for it is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats the most expensive soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes off every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

SPEAKER STIRS CROWD WITH ADDRESS ON WAR

CHARLES W. WHITEHAIR, IN ADDRESS AT MYERS THEATRE, DESCRIBES HOW BATTLE SCENES ENACTED IN CONFLICT.

SOLDIERS ARE CLEAN

ALL Audience That American Boys Are Morally Clean—Predicts That War Will End with Drive on Western Front.

In the past five years I have traveled nearly eighty thousand miles, and I have seen today the finest aggregation of men I have ever seen. This was the statement made by Charles W. Whitehair in his address before a crowd that overflowed the capacity of the Myers Theatre last evening. The theatre was fully as large and packed as the one that attended the opening of the new opera house on Sunday evening and goes to show that the people of Janesville are not only interested in the war but are also interested in the most vivid descriptions of the war that has ever been heard in Janesville.

For a half hour previous to the beginning of his address the Bower City band gave a concert. The concert was of the highest order and the numbers were well received. At 8 o'clock the audience stood while the band played "The Star Spangled Banner," and it was a most inspiring sight.

Mr. G. Jeffries gave a short address on the opening of the meeting, explaining to the people what wonderful work the city of Janesville was doing and telling the audience that this city would be in the front rank with the other cities of the United States in the Third Liberty Loan. Mr. Lovejoy, chairman of the meeting, gave a brief talk before introducing the speaker. Mr. Lovejoy lauded the working people of Janesville who have worked so hard to make the city a success and stated that in all the history of this city the working people have never failed in a crisis. Mr. Lovejoy introduced Charles W. Whitehair, the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Whitehair is a Y. M. C. A. worker and has one of those famous British White Passes which entitles him to go anywhere in the world. He has been at the front since the beginning of the war. In opening his address Mr. Whitehair stated that he had been working in Europe since 1915 and that he has mingled and talked with soldiers representing every country that is fighting today. He then spoke of the conditions in Europe and stated that it was nothing but a large breeding hospital. He told of how there wasn't a village in France today that didn't have at least one hospital. He told of how all the large public buildings and been turned into hospitals and that everything in that country represented war. He stated that it was impossible for anyone to understand the horrors of this war and that there is no living person who can make a person understand the magnitude of the undertaking. He told of how there are at least one million over seven million men in prison camps in Europe today.

Mr. Whitehair then described some of the largest battles, including Verdun and the Marne. He then told the audience that America had to win the war. That they were not fighting for democracy or liberty, but they were fighting for self preservation. He spoke of how the Germans have been fighting. How they have not only taken the front line trenches, but they have taken all of them and are now in back of the trenches. He then stated that if the cities continued to fall till the Germans took them that there would be fighting on the streets of the cities. He stated, however, that he believed that the Germans would never get through. The speaker spoke in the highest terms of the British army and stated that it was like a bull dog. He never knew when it was licked and that the Germans would never break the British line. He told how the allied armies were fighting for right and how they trusted in God in these terrible battles.

Mr. Whitehair then told the audience that this country is only in the early stages of the war. He said that the people haven't as yet even begun to realize the tremendous task that is ahead of them. He further stated that it was his belief that the war would be won on the western front. The speaker stated that the talk that God would win the war and that liberty would win the war made him sick and that the only thing in the war that would win the war was the men in khaki on the western front who are going over the top. He spoke of the conversation he had with General Pershing and stated that upon asking Pershing what he would do when he returned, Pershing said to go back to the front and kill the DAMNABLE GERMAN.

Mr. Whitehair then told the audience that the boys before going into battle. He stated that the boys were over the top singing and cheering; most all of them and that they were the most serious bunch in the world for hours before the order was given to go over the top into the "Living Hell."

In closing Mr. Whitehair spoke of the spirit of the boys before going into battle. He stated that the boys were over the top singing and cheering; most all of them and that they were the most serious bunch in the world for hours before the order was given to go over the top into the "Living Hell."

HEADS AIR BOARD'S PRODUCTION END

William S. Potter.

William S. Potter, for several years in charge of the production end of the Guggenheim interests, has been named to direct the production end of the aircraft board since the reorganization of the war program with the plan of putting industrial men in charge of the production of war supplies.

To purchase either coal or white bread. He told of how he noticed the automobiles drawn up in front of the theatre and told the crowd that there was not a single pleasure car in France or England and that he was sure there wouldn't be a pleasure car in the United States within a year.

In telling of the war Mr. Whitehair stated that it was no longer England's war or France's war, but that it was our war. He told of how the greatest feat accomplished was that of making General Foch commander in chief of the allied armies. He stated that with this man as commander the allies could present a united force that would eventually break the German line and go to Berlin. He told of the message that General Foch sent to General Joffre during the battle of the Marne. General Foch was at that time directing the battle and although losing at all points he wired General Joffre that he was going to attack. He told the assembly that it was the belief of the people over there that somebody prayed during the battle of the Marne and that he was God who stopped the German push.

Mr. Whitehair then described the immensity of the present war. He spoke of the tremendous losses and told how the German men had been thrown in ditches and burned as there were not enough idle men to assist in burying them. He paid the highest tribute to France and assured the people that France is fighting better today than ever and that France would never under any conditions surrender unless the last man in her republic had been killed.

The speaker then told the audience he would tell them of what the American boys were doing in France. The speaker has seen and talked with them. He stated that first he would answer the question that was uttered in the mother's mind: Is my boy dead? The speaker stated in the most emphatic language that the morality of the American soldiers in France is of the highest quality. He told of the wonderful work being done by General Pershing and his staff and stated that the most nervous group of men in the world today, the moral of the boys concerns the entire Pershing staff and they are doing all in their power to safeguard every American boy who is on foreign soil today. He told of how the American boys are acting and stated that every one of them is playing the game like a man. He said in all his talk with them he has heard less complaining than he has heard in this country about the homeless, meatless and wheatless days.

Mr. Whitehair stated that before returning to this country he asked several of the boys what message they wanted him to bring back and that they all told him to tell the folks that they would come home, but that they wouldn't come home until the show was over. He stated that they would not think of coming back until an honest peace had been won. The speaker then paid a fitting tribute to the young ladies of this country who go to France to work in the Y. M. C. A. canteens. He described that they were the most beautiful group of women in the world today. He stated that they are the backbone of the army when the men come out of the trenches on a furlough. He told of how many of them were held by the American soldiers.

In closing Mr. Whitehair spoke of the spirit of the boys before going into battle. He stated that the boys were over the top singing and cheering; most all of them and that they were the most serious bunch in the world for hours before the order was given to go over the top into the "Living Hell."

Dandruff Surely Destroys The Hair. Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't. It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when resting, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

HOW HE MET HER

By J. H. LE ROY.

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Joseph was a very conscientious young man. As a boy he had been known at baseball to dispute the decision of an umpire in his favor. Even the ordinary social lines were repellant to him.

With such character there was only one thing that the young man could not become.

Shortly after he became a reviewer of fiction for the Sun it happened that he met Florence. Florence was a jolly Southern girl, and had at comparative early age been left an orphan. It was shortly after Florence had become a governess that she and Joseph met. Her face was wholesome and practical rather than beautiful. For some weeks he never told her his love. Then one afternoon he took her to hear an oratorio. It may have been the effect of the music or of the tea and toast at the Eastman cafe afterward, or of the long ride to Baltimore over the Washington pike.

"The fact remains that when they climbed into the touring car he called her Miss Bordeaux, and when they parted at the end of the journey he called her Florence. One night there was an air of mystery about her.

"Shortly," she said, "you will see me in a new light, Joseph."

"I would not have you different," said Joseph.

"East side of Mount Vernon bridge, about six tomorrow," said Florence.

"Right," said Joseph. The next morning there was brought to his room a large parcel of novels from the Sun. He groaned, because they meant work, and even the reading of novels is not pleasant if you are paid for it.

He tore his mind away from romance in real life and settled down to romance as it is written, and the very first volume that he picked up was entitled "My Love of Bygone Days," by Florence Bordeaux. This, then, was the new light in which Florence was to appear. She had written a novel and he was to review it.

He wondered if the editor of the Sun would stand an entire column about an unknown genius. Joseph almost regretted that he had discovered three unknown geniuses the week before; it was likely to spoil the market.

He noticed the name of the publishers with regret. Florence would have done better to have consulted him. Then he read the book, and buried his face in his hands, for that novel by Florence Bordeaux was about the most putrid thing in fiction that had polluted his chambers for the last 18 months. It was wrong everywhere; it was wrong all through. There is no worse thing on earth than a bad historical novel, and this was a very bad historical novel.

Here, then, was conflict between love and duty. Duty was scratched and love walked in. By the evening he had written a column hailing Florence Bordeaux as the greatest genius that the century had yet seen. But his heart was broken. For once he had not been conscientious. He could not live with that stain upon his soul. So he determined to meet Florence on Mount Vernon bridge, take one long, last farewell, then send off the review and then leave town and his growing reputation as a literary critic forever.

Florence was a little late for her appointment and looked very pleased with herself.

"Well," he said, "why did you not confide in me? Why did you not tell me you had written a book? Possibly my practiced judgment might—"

"What on earth are you talking about? I have not written any book. I shouldn't be so silly."

"Then some one else with your name has."

"Has she? What cheek." She still laughed at Joseph, somewhat inquiringly. He had an uneasy sense that she was expecting him to say something and that he was not saying it.

"Well," he said, "what did you mean, then, by saying you were going to appear in a new light?"

"If you happen to be blind," she answered rather snappishly, "I can't give you new eyes!"

"Don't be cross, dear. Let's see—it's the same jacket you always wear, and the same skirt."

"Oh, don't bother. I've got my hair done differently, and I've got a new hat. I don't want to talk about it. If you take no interest in my appearance there's no more to be said."

The rest of his interview with Florence was far more pleasant. But Joseph's column review of the novel by her namesake was reduced to two lines on the subject of literary rubbish.

And he was still conscientious.

Saponin, a Food Adulteration. Saponin is a word coined as the name of a substance extracted from plants known as soapbark and soaproot, and a few other plants, by boiling them in water. The word is derived from the Latin word sapo, soap. Saponin possesses the quality when dissolved in water of foaming like soap, and while it has no nutritious or edible quality, it has come into extensive use as a substitute for the white of eggs by producing foam and thus giving some preparations a fraudulent appearance of body and therefore of food value. Administrators of the pure food act have declared that it must not be used in good products, and while not poisonous or hurtful, it is held as an adulteration under the pure food law.

Different Proposition. "But, surely, Bunkum," said the white man, "you are not afraid of that old dog? Why, he eats right out of my hand!" "Yassah! Yassah! When he eats out o' yo' hand, it's yo' hand; but when he done takes a foot notion to eat out o' muh leg, it's muh leg, sah!"—Kansas City Star.

EASTERN STAR STUDY CLASS HOLDS MEETING

Meeting of Eastern Star Study Class Held Yesterday at Masonic Temple.

A comprehensive paper on "Women and the Laws" was a feature of the meeting held in Masonic Temple on yesterday afternoon. The paper was given by Mrs. Anna Curless and it took up the vast changes in the statutes since the time when woman was considered a chattel of man, to be beaten or mistreated any way she wished. She had no property rights, her husband could take her earnings, and even her bank account which she had previous to marriage. He could give away her children and she had no redress under the laws.

It was noted that in those states where women had the franchise, the laws concerning women and children were immediately modified for the better. In Idaho, which has long been a suffrage state, laws have been passed limiting child labor, giving pensions to mothers, giving both parents equal custody of children, allowing married women to hold property in their own name, and giving them power to will property where they wish. The fact was also noted that most state federations of women's clubs have committees stationed at the capitol when legislatures are in session to watch bills being entered for action.

An effective organization called the Better Public Service League was described, which consisted of women pledged to work for public service, and which had been a means of striking terror into the ward bosses of the city.

A paper read by Mrs. L. Amerpohl described the workings of suffrage in California, and how the 100,000 women of the state through their study clubs and civic centers had been preparing themselves for intelligent use of the ballot.

Mention was also made of the many splendid laws passed through the efforts and some of the corrupt officials put out of office by the same means. The women were learning to

The next meeting of the club will have for its subject, Child Welfare, in charge of Mrs. Percy Munger. Mrs. Laura Bridgman of Evansville will read a paper on Eugenics.

BOXING ORGANIZATION WOULD AID THE SPORT

NEW YORK, April 19.—The fact that the United States is leading the world in the production of boxing gloves is a fact that is being overlooked by the boxing community. The United States is the only country in the world that produces boxing gloves.

It was seven years ago that Tom Andrews, a prominent sports writer and boxing promoter of Milwaukee, made an attempt to form an international association which would have control of the boxing game. His effort was on the eve of the J. J. Johnson fight in London. Perhaps, with the World War, the idea of an international association will be made. This time to a more satisfactory conclusion.

Now, however, the United States is leading the world in the production of boxing gloves. The boxing game has a higher place in the nation's sports than it has enjoyed for some time. The United States is the only country in the world that produces boxing gloves. The boxing game has a higher place in the nation's sports than it has enjoyed for some time. The United States is the only country in the world that produces boxing gloves.

There is a general feeling among the sports writers that the White Sox, who are the only team in the American League that has not won a game, are the only team in the American League that has not won a game. The White Sox are the only team in the American League that has not won a game. The White Sox are the only team in the American League that has not won a game.

M. WHEAT GETS HIS CHANCE THIS YEAR

Mack Wheat.

Mack Wheat, of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is a younger brother of the better known Zack Wheat, but he is a very clever player in his own right and may have a regular chance this year. Mack is a catcher, married and not likely to march away soon, and if his hitting continues to improve he'll be starring before the season's over.

Little Rock, was one of the star first basemen in the Southern League last summer. The Boston Braves sent him to look at it. The Southern League world got his chance, and his work in the spring struggles stamped him distinctly as a corner. But now he is back in harness, and between the two he is undoubtedly the better man. It isn't likely that Stallings will keep two first basemen, so the indications are that Covington will spend another year in the minors.

Do you know that Tris Speaker is the only absolutely graceful ball player in active service in the Large Top?

Dave Atcox before leaving for England to box Jimmy Wilde should take on the American lightweight champion, Johnny Rossner. Rossner lost to Wilde in twelve rounds, and has since knocked out Joe Zuker, young Zulu, Steve Plesner and Benny Volgar. His record is far superior to Atcox's and we for one believe he would have a much better chance against the thirty fifteen than Dave. Why not bring the two together?

Jack Hendricks, the new manager of the Cardinals, ought to be successful in the minors. Hendricks came up from Indianapolis, where he made an enviable record. Previously he did remarkably well with the Denver club. He did not come to the big leagues by mere chance or accident. At least three different clubs had him under consideration, one of them being the Cardinals of the American League. Instead of taking Hendricks Cleveland Lee Fohl, another minor leaguer, and never regretted the step. Which is another argument for Jack's success in St. Louis.

VALUABLE KNOWLEDGE FOR SELECTS SECURED AT SCHOOL IN DENVER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Denver, Col., April 19.—Education of men liable to military service under the selective draft have been undertaken by the Opportunity school conducted by the city of Denver. It is believed that this is the first school in the country to offer such a service. With a total enrollment of 3,000 pupils in less than a year and a half and with its wide scope of subjects taught, the institution is considered out of the ordinary.

Persons of all ages are admitted. A pupil may enter at any time, take any or all subjects he wishes, devote as much time as he can spare in classes and choose the hour of classes for the school is open from 8:30 a. m. until 9:15 p. m.

Its activities cover a wide range, from an employment bureau conducted by pupils to training in aviation by means of the school's own airplane. In all the industrial departments there is a long waiting list of applicants for training. In the automobile mechanic department 500 men have enrolled, many of them being in the next draft. They are preparing to be more efficient workers "over there."

The women pupils have devoted one afternoon a week making baby clothes from partly worn clothing. Already 5,000 garments have gone to France, Belgium and Italy. It is a woman, Miss Emily Griffith, who is in charge of the school, although it was made possible by City Superintendent of Schools Charles Cole.

Lieut. William Robert Russell conducts the large classes in aviation and radio work for enlisted and drafted men. These classes are now 125 men in wireless positions for the government. The school has 247 stars in its service flag for those who have entered military service and they cover many nationalities. Many of these in fact are citizens the school has made through its citizenship class which has prepared 600 men to take out naturalization papers. This class recently sent $100 to the Red Cross. Twenty nationalities attend the school at present.

The school is democratic. It provides training for the energetic person anxious to get ahead; the discouraged one trying to set into line again; the man who missed his schooling; the educated taking some special training to further fit them; the working boy and working girl who cannot attend school; the man and woman who are out of touch with the times and who are out of touch with the times and who are out of touch with the times.

Among the results are the machine who doubled his wages after his drafting course; the young man who measured muscle for ten years until he hated his job and is now a bookkeeper and happy; the drifting boy who found his life in the class in railroad telegraphy and quit the poolrooms.

BRITISH SHOW SUPERIORITY IN FIERCE COUNTER ATTACKS

A battle scene such as those that are now many on the western front.

Scenes such as the above are frequent in the fierce battle that has now been waging more than several days on the western front. The British with the supporting French have shown the greatest gallantry in resisting the heavy German assaults and in constantly retarding their advance with fierce counter attacks. In the picture the allies have rushed into the hastily constructed positions of the foe and are engaging them in hand to hand conflict, where the foe is always bested.

STATE IS NINTH IN CATHOLIC FAITH

There are 552,222 Catholics in Wisconsin and the state ranks ninth in Catholic population in the United States, according to a statistical report just issued by P. J. Kennedy & Sons, New York, publishers of the Official Catholic Directory.

The report shows an increase of 5,346 communicants over last year, when the Catholic population for the state totaled 546,876.

Increases Are Shown.
There are 17,416,290 Catholics in the United States, proper states the report. "The net increase in the number of Catholics for the year amounts to 293,124. Fifty-nine dioceses and archdioceses reported increases, four showed decreases, and thirty-eight made no change in the population figure."

The report states that comparing the figures of the 1917 issue with those of the 1908 volume, it is found that the increase in the number of Catholics during the past ten years has been 3,528,577.

According to the report twenty-seven states have a Catholic population of 100,000 or over and during the year Louisiana has forged ahead of Wisconsin, leading the border states by over 1,000 in the race for eighth place. Kentucky, also, has taken a step forward, crowding Missouri out of tenth place and Indiana has passed Iowa. The Hoosier state now being in seventeenth place and Iowa in eighteenth place.

20,177 Are Clergymen.
The table also shows that there are 20,177 Catholic clergymen in the United States. Other figures taken from the summary are as follows: Archbishops, 12; bishops, 93; churches with resident priests, 10,569; missions with churches, 5,443; seminaries, 106; seminarians, 7,238; parochial schools, 7,448; children attending parochial schools, 1,593,407; colleges for boys, 217; academies for girls, 677; orphan asylums, 297; homes for aged, 109.

Joseph H. Meier, former Milwaukeean, has again this year compiled the figures for the report.

PICTORIAL HONOR ROLL PLANNED FOR JACKIES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Great Lakes, Ill., April 19.—A pictorial roll of honor for every blue-jacket who has lost or might lose his life in the war and who served his training or over was stationed at Great Lakes, will be hung in the hall of the Administration building at the Great Lakes Naval Training station. A notice setting forth the plan has been received by Captain William A. Moffett, commandant, from the bureau of navigation. "The bureau obtained photographs of all men of the station who have made the supreme sacrifice of national devotion. If now photographs are needed they will be placed in position in the roll of honor after being received from Washington. Below each man's picture will be inscribed his name, rating, date of enlistment and date of death. The pictures will be arranged in some place where they may be on view and kept as a permanent memorial."

Another phase of the roll of honor for the naval service is that which proposes the collection and forwarding by the bureau of navigation of pictures of men of the service who have been commended for bravery and heroic action during the course of the service. The plan has been heartily endorsed by Captain Moffett. Complete statistics are not available, but there are about thirty men of the United States navy whose names already are eligible for the roll of honor. As soon as the big frame has been made the photographs and dates will be placed on record.

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest.

MAN AND LATHE.

I'm standing at my lathe all day
And this is what I hear it say:
"The best of you, the best of me,
Are needed now across the sea.
We do not hear the cannons roar,
No aeroplane comes sailing o'er
Our heads, and yet from day to day
We, two are soldiers in the fray."

"Oh hand that guides me now be true,
A mighty task is mine to do.
'Tis mine to shape and cut the steel.
With every turning of my wheel
I'm building for that better day
When tyranny shall pass away.
Speed up! Speed up! this thing I make
May save a thousand lives at stake."

I whisper to my lathe: "Be strong,
We toil today to right a wrong.
Some of us march to fight and drum,
My music is your busy hum.
And this the hymn you sing to me
Always: 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'
This very day, this very hour
We'll serve the flag with all our power."

Trees and Faces.

You can tell a good many interesting things about a tree just by looking at it. Sometimes it leans far over in one direction because a careless foot trod upon it long ago. Sometimes all the branches point one way, and this tells us what sort of winds it had to face when it was a sapling. People who know about trees can tell almost the whole history of one by looking it over.

But trees are not the only things whose life story is written upon them where everyone can read it. Every day your thoughts and your acts are writing a record on your faces. The boy who is overbearing and the girl who is peevish and fretful, may try to hide these faults from those outside their homes, but it cannot be done. Little lines are coming about the eyes and lips which tell the whole story as plainly as words could do it. Be careful that the record they write upon your face is of thoughts and acts that are loving and kind.

LIBERTY BONDS OR BONDS Which?

We have the choice of two bonds—Liberty Bonds or the bonds which enslave men and nations to the dictates of a few.

Which shall you choose?

Choose now between the bond that will preserve your liberty and bring happiness to the world and the bond which will be levied upon you by your enemies—the shackles and the yoke under which we bowed before the days of freedom.

Choose now, you American, you who have known no other state of being but that of a free-born child of the earth, whether or not you shall retain that freedom or sell your birthright for a mess of pottage. Think and choose well.

Choose now, you from foreign lands, you who owe more to the Stars and Stripes than you can ever repay, you whose wrists have bled from the bonds which were broken the day you set your foot upon this free soil.

Which shall it be, Liberty Bonds or bonds?

Choose now, you who have grown rich from the fat of this free land, you who never dreamed the day would come when you could hold up your head in the walks of men. Reflect upon what you owe, and choose.

Choose now, you who labor and toil, choose between the sanctity of your home and the wantonness, anguish and despair which follow in the wake of war. Think of your own and choose.

Choose now, you who waved the flag in time of peace, you whose blood boiled at the overt acts which led to war, you who would have stirred the very stones to rise and mutiny—choose between the bonds.

Choose now, you who would have peace, choose between peace and war. A Liberty Bond is the most effective peace advocate within your reach.

Choose now, you who believe in the gospel of the Nazarene, who believe as did He in freedom, in justice and in the survival of truth. Your forebears fought and died for freedom of worship. The Liberty Bonds will purchase freedom of life.

Back of the Liberty Bonds stands the security of the greatest nation on earth, and with it the security of your home and your children. They are underwritten by a people who own and control the most precious of tangible collateral, freedom, wealth and enterprise.

American bonds will remain good as long as the earth holds together and American people live thereon, PROVIDED YOU DO WHAT IS EXPECTED OF YOU TODAY.

The enemy is watching us from across the sea. Should you fail in your duty, he will take courage. The failure of this loan would quicken every trigger that is trained upon our men and strike hope in the brutal hearts of those who sank the Lusitania.

The country is not asking for your charity. You are not asked to give this money, but to lend it to yourself, for you will benefit by what it will bring.

You are asked to lend yourself the money with which to buy the necessities of a war that will guarantee to you the human rights which you have been taught to respect.

Yes, you must choose. There is no alternative. You have the advantage of choosing while you are rich, for you are rich in strength and in the means necessary to stand up for the right. You are asked to choose before you are forced to give.

Our country will never force itself upon your pocketbook. It will never compel you to act, for you are a free agent and you have the right to say whether or not you will remain such.

But there are other powers less scrupulous. Give the enemy but one chance to reach our shores with his murderers and you will pay as no other nation has paid since man began. You will pay in money and blood, in sorrow, suffering and want. Such has been the history of all time, and such will it be until freedom has been purchased for all mankind.

Every American citizen, whether born such or enfranchised, hails from some other land. Read the history of that land and choose.

Every American citizen, who by the grace of God is permitted to pay homage to the Stars and Stripes, bears a mark somewhere of a bitter past. Look at the mark and choose.

Whichever way you turn, men and women, or whatever view you take, you must choose now between the bonds.

Grip the Liberty Bond with all your heart and soul, and you will have anchored to a rock of ages that will bear up under the storm.

Look well to your choice, for upon it depends all that you hold dear in life.
